COMMODORE'S CORNER

by: Andy Beggs, Commodore

What the heck happened? At first, I didn't realize we had wiped out. Our euphoria of a great start at Balboa Pier had long worn off, and I was tethered in at the pulpit of Triggerfish for the spinnaker hoist. I couldn't see or hear anything other than the roar of a 24-knot breeze, the rushing water and the frantic and violent slapping of the partially full spinnaker. We were several hundred yards to the weather of the Coronado Islands, about 2 hours after sunset. The cloud coverage was very thick, and visibility was about as close to zero as I've seen in a long while. Despite being so close to the island, you can only sense its presence....like a gravitational force. So what now? The hoist had gone awry...spin sheet was intertwined with lifelines and or all the other rigging and jack lines. I could vaguely make out a yell to get the lazy sheet pulled around to replace the fouled port side sheet, so I pulled it around. Unfortunately, by then we had rounded up and were moving sideways/backwards downwind.... right onto the island. Not great. I heard a yell from Brandon (Folkman) to lose the kite. Then a lot more yelling requesting help. Not sure what was going on in the back of the bus, but it sounded urgent. Then the kite started coming down from the mast and into the 9' swells of the Pacific Ocean. I knew one thing for certain, which is we could not afford to shrimp this kite if we expected to avoid going onto the rocks. Somehow this giant spinnaker had to come down. One piece or 20, it had to get on the boat. I often joke that my core competency is reaching the top shelf. There's another one: sail retrieval. Long arms can corral a spinnaker and wrestle it into the hatch. Lankiness, desperation and an assist from Rob Moody was just what we needed, and we were back to being a sailing vessel again, all-be-it a bare headed one. I yelled about hoisting the genoa, and Brandon pointed out we were doing 8 knots already.... not much more the genoa was going to do for us. We can take our time, so we did. OK, so I messed that up pretty bad. I'm not much of a bowman, but sometimes I must do it....and this is what happens. Sub-optimal. BUT we were OK and racing. Brandon was almost pulled through the clutch on the spin halyard drop but he wasn't. Rob Moody was almost swept off the boat but he wasn't. Joe Bell, Kevin Cammiso and Matt Bartley could have gone over in the wipe out, but they didn't. An Experienced crew figures out how to survive and stay on the boat. And get back to racing. Now what? First, we decided to hold off on spinnaker hoists. Back to the genoa: moving very fast still...10 knots at many times....We had already fully committed to the outside route of the Newport to Ensenada race, sowe just have to keep going. Head for Todos Santos, make the turn, and come in hot at the finish. The wind predictions (which were completely wrong) did say no wind after 3 AM. We had 6-8 which died down to about 5 right at our 5:32 AM finish.... Our race was complete! Time for Margaritas and waiting in the Mexican customs line. Hindsight being 20/20, we clearly should have just gone rhumb line. BUT, that's the beauty of this race. You must start with a plan and then figure it out from there. I've lost this race so many times by abandoning an outside strategy, come in too early, and get stuck floating aimlessly on the Mexican coastline. We didn't let that happen to us, but rhumb line was the call this year. Yes, I botched the kite hoist. That is a regret that I'll have until we do this race again and I redeem myself. This is how we win: Great people, great adventures, great competitors. King Harbor Yacht Club!

GOOD ADVICE

by: James Lee, Vice Commodore

What a great Newport to Ensenada Race we had with three KHYC boats (Triggerfish, Mare'zia and La Mer) all completing the race by 10 am Saturday morning which gave us time to have a nice lunch before taking a well-deserved nap! It was a particularly windy and swell-filled ride down but we'd rather have wind than not, so no complaints. Congratulations to Triggerfish for finishing their first Ensenada race and winning the Dave O'Brien Perpetual Trophy for the first KHYC mono hull over 30 feet!

Izant and Rob Farmer). We got the racers out and back before sunset with two downwind sets. 28 boats started and the time between the first and last boat was only 28 minutes. Everyone enjoyed the sunset and burgers and I had the new addition to the menu, shrimp burgers! We added some funds to the trophies this year so hope you all appreciate the durable and classic ceramic mugs. If you've ever had a Pusser's Painkiller, you'll know what those mugs are for! The annual Women's Sailing Clinic coordinated by the Women's Sailing Fleet was another awesome success and I provided one-on-one docking and maneuvering instruction to Stephanie Sonora on her Catalina 25 and Tishelle Miller on her Beneteau 51. Great job by all and thank you Tracy Williams for putting on another great clinic! Hope to see all your boats out at the Commodore's Cruise to Catalina Harbor June 28-30! Sold out Friday night dinners with live music upstairs, Mother's Day brunch, KHYPF races and Sail-a-Thon, Bill Brand Memorial Paddle, a spectacular wine list, beautiful sunsets and so much more. The season is only just getting started.

KHYC had a table at the City of Redondo Beach State of the City event on May 9 where club leadership and members learning all the wonderful things happening around the city. Mayor Jim Light delivered the keynote address and provided a comprehensive overview of significant achievements and challenges for the city including a most heartfelt remembrance for Mayor Bill Brand. Much appreciation for S/C Mark Hansen for coordinating the table and event for KHYC.

As PRO on the race committee during the Twilight Race on Thursday, May 2. I proudly wore my new KHYC Race Management Fleet shirt. With the rest of the race committee (Jr S/C Dorian Harris, Vineeta Oza, Jennifer Paquette) and expert drivers (Steve

More on harbor dredging... As many of you have observed, either from the club or on our Dock Cam and Harbor Cam, the dredging has concluded as of this writing. Special thanks to Jeff Chambers, and his team of S/C Burr Hope, S/C Kelly McMartin, Gary Sofia, Mark Baxter and others, who showed up to remove the two small docks under the west gangway, as well as the west gangway itself, so the dredging company could get in and complete their scope of work. Unfortunately, the delays resulted in the need to cancel the Twilight Races on May 9 and 16. We're hoping the rest of the planned Twilights will be completed as scheduled. By the time you're reading this, we hope to have gotten the docks back in. Thanks also to our racers, who's plans have been interrupted, for their patience while we make our best efforts to work through this.

Speaking of Twilights, by the time you're reading this, many more of you will have crossed paths with our new Committee Boat, currently called Phantom. We completed the purchase, took possession, completed needed repairs, delivered her to King Harbor, then rigged her as a Race Committee Boat. With the leadership of S/C and 2024 Race Chair Dorian Harris, and the unrelenting assistance from Sandy Bartiromo, Director Steve Izant, S/C Dennis Groat, Vicki Becker and Patrick Shuss for their generous contributions of time, expertise and connections to the effort, we seem to have gotten it done. Congrats to all who participated, we'll look forward to many years of successful race management on the water, as well as the working boat tasks of mark deployment, and other miscellaneous tasks. Also, I would like to thank Cruising Fleet Skipper Katie Gonzalez, for taking on the West Yard Committee leadership role, and I'd like to thank all the member licensees who use their vessels out of this dry moorage area. There are a lot of moving parts to this, including the government requirement to keep registration up to date, regular use of all vessels kept in the area, etc. This is a unique benefit to being a KHYC member, although, as most of you are aware, there is always a waiting list to get in.

MERCHANDIZE

by: Clara Jett, Merchandize Chair.

Our model this month is long-time member Kathy Smith, shown here right after the First Mates monthly meeting where she received the GAL Award for her past contributions to the First Mates and to the club. She is wearing a fluffy oatmeal vest. Looks great on her. We now have black heather fluffy vests and long sleeve white, pale yellow and blue tees. Short sleeve white, royal and navy Polo shirts with a pocket for the men. Any suggestions for additional items, contact me, tajett@earthlink.net.

NEW VESSEL TO OUR FAMILY- An Introduction to PHANTOM

2000 Albin 28 Tournament Express -Class Downeast
Diesel-Yanmar m/d6LP-STE Transmission-ZF 63IV

Albin Boats was a Swedish boat builder that specialized in the design and manufacture of fiberglass sailboats. The company was founded in 1899 as a builder of marine engines and produced its first boat in 1929. Albin Yachts focused on the marine engine business before moving into boat building, initially, only building sailboats. When entering the world of powerboats, they began with the Albin 25 Double Cabin, introduced in 1969. The company sold their brand in 2008. (Wikipedia.org)

In 1899, Lars Albin Larsson founded Albin Motors in Kristinehamn. The pivotal moment arrived in 1964 when they made a significant shift in constructing its own fiberglass boats. The first of these was the Vega 27, introduced in 1965. Their line of sailboats expanded producing vessels ranging 19 to 41 feet. Many of these sailboats were designed by talented Swedish designers such a Peter Norlin and Per Brohall.

In 2008, the Albin brand found new life when it was purchased by an American company which led to the creation of a line of powerboats bearing the Albin name.

The docks being out is an inconvenience for us, but no one is complaining. We are just firming up our June's event date; we will blast out an email when that is solid.

Meanwhile, we try not to conflict with other users of this area as we enjoy the "Golden summer evenings of Redondo Beach". Enjoy this surreal photo snapped by one of our paddlers, after the worst storm of 2023.

The machine is forecasting gold sunsets to come!

Charis Rey & Friends are a dynamic cover band that brings the best of R&B, Funk and Rock to the South Bay. With their soulful vocals, groovy rhythms and electrifying guitar solos, they can make any crowd dance and sing along. Whether it's a classic hit or a modern tune, they deliver it with style and passion!

Meanwhile, after dark, look up at the sky... City Fire Works are back this year!

FIRST MATES

by: Kathy Smith

The First Mates celebrated Cinco de Mayo at our May meeting, as has been our longstanding tradition. Galley Supervisor Lupe kept the margaritas flowing, while Marco and his team prepared our luncheon feast. ¡Fue un buen día!

The First Mates are gearing up for our fundraiser, the “Hidden Treasures” Sale on Friday, June 21 starting at 4:30pm right up until the General Meeting later that evening. Bring some cash with you to the club that afternoon so you can snatch up that must-have item or two!

First Mates meet the first Wednesday of every month at 11:30 a.m.

BOOK CLUB REVIEWS

by: Rafael Fernandez

In May we reviewed “Stage Seven” by Ruth F. Stevens, who is a resident of Torrance, California and a good friend of Rosanne Klein, one of our Book Club Members who invited her to attend our book review meeting and which Rosanne moderated expertly, as she also acted as her host. It was a book about the challenges and tragedy experienced by both the individuals suffering from Alzheimer’s disease and by the relatives who lovingly must take care of them. At first, it seemed to be a simple story about people taking care of relatives who have developed dementia and loss of memory; and about how, through the process of taking care of them, they reach a new understanding about memory and of how the “cognition functions” of the human brain are “essential” to defining personality. Frankly, I found this story to be more than an intimidating possibility. The idea of loosing the ability of remembering mental action or the process of acquiring knowledge and understanding through, experience, the senses and thought; is simply terrifying!

The book also shines a light on the neurotic behavior and lifestyle that typifies some of our American culture these days, as portrayed by the vividly drawn and distinct cast of characters who almost all have a very unhealthy daily diet: Pizza, sweet bread, processed foods, cookies and cakes; not to mention abuse alcohol and live a very stressful, workaholic lifestyle, including a dependence on highly addictive prescription drugs, like Xanax. The characters all live in a make-believe land of the Tropical Gardens, plastic palm trees and Luau lunches, where medication is the answer to every problem. Maybe it is a realistic portrayal of some mainstream life, but it also reads as a critique of our contemporary society. Maybe, inadvertently, this book makes the link between the American lifestyle and chronic diseases, such as obesity, diabetes, heart disease and dementia. Each stereotypical character is, to some degree, neurotic as illustrated by the hysterical response to the discovery of a romance between the elderly principal characters; especially by the 20-year-old grandson, who regularly gets “laid” and gets “wasted” in an alcoholic binge... Seems like an unjust reaction, to say the least!

NIGHT WATCH FLEET
by: Sara Martin, Fleet Skipper

Something happened at the NWF meeting that I never thought could happen, ever – I made a lei! Thanks to our 1st Officer Jenny Lee, all of the June meeting attendees made a lei using only a large straw, ribbon, and some yarn. They're so cute and were so easy & simple to make. As someone who only ever learned to 'cast on' in crocheting, and who will never have the ambidexterity required for moving two knitting needles simultaneously, I had as much fun as everyone else learning this new skill in the few minutes it took for Jenny's expert lei instructor assistants to teach us. As you can tell, we like to have fun! Jenny regularly Hula dances at senior living facilities; she makes and then gives these leis to all of her audience members. NWF members are happy to support her in providing more leis made by happy hands!

Our next meeting is Tuesday, June 4th. As always, we will start with a potluck dinner. I'm hoping Denise Harkins brings another batch of the-best-in-the-world fresh corn salad again, because none of us could get enough of that deliciousness at the May potluck.

We invite all KHYC women to join in on our friendship and fun. Keep up to date by book marking our fleet web page: <https://khye.org/group/pages/club-fleets>.

KING HARBOR YOUTH FOUNDATION

by: Suzanne De Stefano, Sailing Administrator

May was an exceptional month for KHYF with several special events and multiple regattas taking place. We enjoyed our first year as a philanthropic partner with the Beachlife Festival which included a fundraising gala and three days at the event. With our new look on full display, it was a great experience to share our passion for teaching youth sailing and our love for the ocean with the community.

Our junior sailing program is going strong with practices, clinics and Opti/FJ regattas. Congratulations to Chloe Hirsch who placed 3rd in Green Fleet at the Ken Hoover Opti Regatta in Newport. We also had our High School teams competing at the Pacific Coast Championships in San Diego at MBYC. Mira Costa competed in Gold Fleet and South High School placed 4th in Silver Fleet! Congrats to our High School sailors who made it to the Championships!

Mother's Day weekend was full of action with our rescheduled Fritz Dawson Sail-A-Thon and inaugural MOMosa Opti Team Race Invitational regatta. The fundraiser was a big success and a great way to end a day of racing. The Opti Invitational was the first time many of our young sailors competed in a team-race format and they loved it! Congratulations to KHYF Team members Stuart Prangnell, Rafferty Wright and Sailor Mays for taking 2nd place! With mimosas on hand for all of the Mom's and families from other clubs, it was great time for everyone. Special thanks to all of the volunteers who made these events possible and to the Hebson's for hosting on their boat!

Summer Sailing sessions are still available starting June 10th so please check out KHYF.org for more information or call 424-287-SAIL.
